Clients: Global (re)insurers

Global (re)insurers assessing potential exposure to historic UK liability covers attracting asbestos related Mesothelioma claims.

The problem

With as many as 2,500 people facing a mesothelioma diagnosis in 2021, and thousands more already diagnosed, any advancements in treating and extending life expectancy for sufferers is welcome for individuals, families and society.

- Immunotherapy, as a treatment for Mesothelioma first began appearing as part of damages claims in 2015/6 and has continued since.
- More treatments for mesothelioma have become available in the UK and Scotland via the National Health Service.

Insurers face the challenge of assessing how to respond to the large number of immunotherapy treatment options and understanding how this impacts their exposure to asbestos-related liability claims costs

Our Approach

Various funding mechanisms are in place to help mitigate claimants' legal expenses whilst ensuring those who wish to can access treatment privately.

The experts at Pro work with insurers to make them aware of the options to help claimants' experience and access to the most appropriate treatment be as timely, efficient and cost-effective as possible.

Taking a data led approach, we also work with insurers to ensure their exposure is assessed accurately and complex claims triaged efficiently to ensure the fairest and most rapid outcome for policyholders and insurers.

VALUE CREATED

For liability carriers and policyholders, our proactive approach to applying the most up to date medical research and legal advice, augmented by our technology, enables us to assess claims for emerging treatments efficiently and drive out unnecessary cost from the process.

In addition, Pro has developed relationships with various treatment providers directly that deliver cost benefits to clients while expediting the treatment authorisation process for the claimant.
